

Personal Safety and Hostile Environment Training

including:
World Traveller Awareness
Remote Medical Training

We work closely with an international security company who specialise in training people in readiness for hostile environments worldwide. Their client base is wide-ranging including television, media, corporate business, governments and humanitarian aid agencies. They carry out training which is very practical, fun, interactive and challenging in order to prepare anyone who is travelling or working in areas of the world that may be potentially hostile.

Personal Safety and Hostile Environment Training

The training can be tailored to your individual requirements and can include remote medical training, hostile environment preparation, road-block awareness, contingency planning and security logistics. This training can be backed-up with practical security assistance world-wide if necessary.

WORLD TRAVELLER AWARENESS:

Designed to heighten awareness in personal safety to help you avoid problems whether you are in the streets of London, New York, Delhi or Johannesburg.

NGO AND HUMANITARIAN AID TRAINING:

The needs of an aid agency worker are different than a corporate client. Therefore this course includes liaison and negotiating skills; awareness & avoidance; conflict management and counter-surveillance awareness.

These are just some examples of the training that can be carried out - for further information, please contact the Sales Office (0118 9 74 75 76)
